2022 DISL Playoffs

Playoffs Explained

For each Division, there will be a bracket on its own page. Each game of that Division's bracket will have a Game ID. This ID will be made up of a D#/G#. For example, the first game of Division 1, will be called D1/G1.

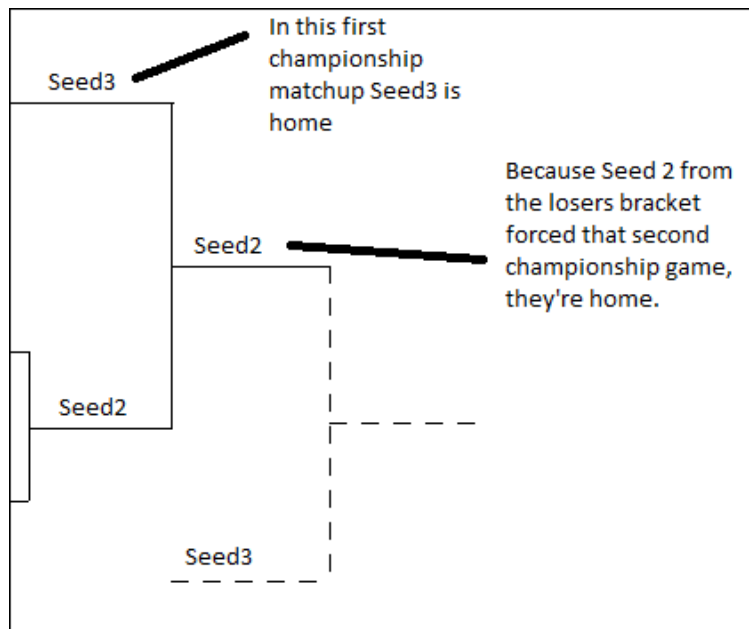

In the schedule/results portion of this document, the Game ID will show before the matchup or result of the matchup. For example, for D1/G1, the matchup will either say who is playing, or who played and who won, by what score.

Rainouts

Note, we will attempt to reschedule rainouts as soon as we possibly could. The idea is that we will update this document daily.

Seeding and Home/Away

The higher regular season seed will get to choose whether they would like to be Home or Away for that game. This will be the case for every matchup EXCEPT for the championship game. In that case whatever team that comes out of the WINNERS SIDE regardless of seed, will get to choose Home or Away. If the Winner's Side team loses the first championship game to the Loser's Side, then choice of Home/Away switches to the team that just won, forcing that last matchup.
